New York, November 13.—The Washington special says: There is said to be a growing trepidation on the part of Winder, Duncan and Gee, the confederates of Wirzat Andersonville, and now confined in the Old Capital Prison. Winder is realizing more fully than his associates the full force of danger that hangs over them as partners and active participators in the crimes of Wirzathie conducting the famous stockade. He is especially nervous upon the subject and manifests an impatient desire to place his record before the authorities and thus be cleared of the damaging implications that were deduced from the testimony brought out in the trial of Wirz. He frequently summons the commandant of the that were deduced from the festimony brought out in the trial of Wirz. He frequently summons the commandant of the prison to his cell and endeavors to obtain some idea of the popular feeling that is entertained in regard to his share and agoncy in the atrocities of Andersonville. The vindication he has prepared of himself already covers forty pages of legal cap and is being added to daily.
